Yes Man Changed My Life

Yes Man is the best book I've ever read. It's the true story about the life of Danny Wallace. Before Danny Wallace became the 'Yes Man', his life was boring and he felt old.

So he decided to make things more exciting. He started saying "Yes" to every question people asked him. And he did it for a whole year. From the day he started, it completely changed his life.

It' s an interesting story. When I finished the book, I also wanted to change my life. So I had a holiday and became a 'Yes Man' for a week. This is what happened.

I started on Saturday morning. At 10 in the morning, I got my first question. I saw a poster in the window of a travel agent (旅行社). I needed a holiday so I went in. A lady asked me where I wanted to go. But before I could answer, she said, "A beach holiday, sir?" In fact, I don' t like beaches, I like cities. But I said, "Yes." Five minutes later, everything was ready. My flight was the next day.

I arrived at my hotel at lunchtime. It was very, very hot. I just wanted to have a rest, but the guide said, "we have a bus to the beach in ten minutes. Do you want to go?" I said, "Yes."

It was about 40°C at the beach. A man asked me "Sunglasses? Do you want sunglasses?" I had a pair of sunglasses in my bag, but I said "Yes." Five minutes later, another man came: " Beautiful hat, sir?" I said, "Yes."

Three hours later, I had two pairs of sunglasses and three hats. It was difficult to carry all my new things back to the bus.

I decided: no trips tomorrow, just rest. When I got back, the guide asked, "Oh, there's a water skiing course tomorrow. Do you want me to book a place for you?" I can't swim very well and I don't like the sea. I wanted to cry.

45. When the writer finished the book Yes Man, he wanted to _____.

- D. have a water skiing course

46. Where does the writer like?

- B. On foot.
- C. By air.
- D. By boat.

48. The writer had two pairs of sunglasses and three hats because _____.

- A. he had money
- B. he liked them
- C. he said, "Yes"
- D. he wanted to

Winning Color

You are getting ready to play a football match and you want to win. What color should you wear to help you win? You are getting ready to go to an interview and you want to succeed. What color should you wear to help you succeed? Strange questions, perhaps, but color could be the key to your success. Read on and find out how.

The most popular color in Britain is black. Wearing black makes people feel more confident, but can often make you look unemotional. This may be why people sometimes think that British people don't want to make a strong impression (印象). Although black is common in Britain, most people agree that in fact blue is the world's favorite color. The students in school and the people who work in business often wear blue. Wearing blue will show that you are an effective and hard-working person.

Sometimes people mistakenly think that red makes you look strong and successful. However, you will be seen aggressive (好攻击的) if you choose red clothes. New information now says that yellow, not red, is the color of winning. Australia and Brazil are both very successful in the sporting world, and the sports things of both countries are yellow. Strangely enough, athletes who wear yellow glasses during a race can improve their time by up to half a second. Tests show that the yellow color makes them feel positive and energetic and could be the difference between a medal and no medal.

So, next time you have an important event in your life—a race, a match, an exam or an interview—think about your clothes. The color of your clothes can change your life!

49. According to the passage, wearing black in Britain makes people feel _____.

- A. energetic B. Positive C. Successful D. confident

50. What is Paragraph 3 mainly about?

- A. Sport — red or yellow?
B. Race — winning or losing?
C. Athletes — success or failure?
D. Work and school — black or blue?

51. From the passage, we can learn that _____.

- A. blue is the winning color
B. red makes you look strong
C. British people like wearing black
D. a hard-working person likes wearing yellow.

52. If you have an important match and you want to win, you'd better

_____.

- A. change your favorite color
- B. choose the color of winning
- C. wear the most popular color
- D. know other players' favorite color

Is Being Active Helpful for Better Grades?

For some students, getting better grades can seem like an impossible task sometimes. With the challenges of school, just paying attention in class or studying hard isn't always enough. But what if there were other ways for students to improve their grades? For parents and students who have ever wondered if this is possible, now you can rest easy. Research suggests that a person who likes doing activities can improve their grades.

Scientists think that those students who are active are not just exercising their bodies, but also exercising their brains. In turn, they can be able to improve their grades at school.

In the most recent study, researchers found that when children played for half an hour each day, they were better at organizing their schoolwork as well as doing project work and learning traditionally 'difficult' subjects, such as maths.

What does this mean for children who aren't active? Researchers think that if kids don't get enough activities, they are going to be at a disadvantage when it comes to school performance.

In the research experiment, a group of children skipped with ropes, played basketball and did a number of other games or exercises. Another group of children didn't do any activities. They took part in testing both before the experiment and after the experiment. Testing was mainly for maths and reading skills. Results showed that the children in the activity group did better on the tests than those who had no activity.

All work and no play will not only make Jack a dull (迟钝的) boy, but will also negatively (消极地) affect his grades in school, according to a new study published in the Journal of Pediatrics.

Parents complain children today are actually less active and they always worry about their grades. Dr. Belton, an expert, she said: "If you'd like to see your kids do better in school, have them close their books, set down their pencils and go outside to play."

53. What does the expression "rest easy" in Paragraph I probably mean?

- A. Stop worrying
- B. Keep changing
- C. Avoid going
- D. Continue learning

54. What does the writer want to tell us?

- A. Doing more homework can get better marks.
- B. All work and no play can do better on testing.
- C. Being active can do better on school subjects.
- D. Spending more time on exercise can have a better body.

55. To help children get better grades, parents should _____.

- A. ask the researchers for help.
- B. encourage them to do more activities.
- C. help them to organize their schoolwork.
- D. let them solve problems by themselves.

Jambo' s Story

In 1986, a video of a frightening event involving a gorilla (大猩猩) and a boy was watched by millions of people around the world. The video is still popular on the Internet today, changed people' s opinions of gorillas forever.

On 31 August, 1986 a couple took their two young sons to Jersey Zoo. When the family arrived, they went to see the gorillas straight away. The father noticed that the children were too small to see the animals, so he picked up his five-year-old son, Levan, and put him on the top of the wall. Then he turned round to pick up his other son.

When the father turned back, Levan had disappeared. The boy had fallen off the wall, into the gorilla area. The parents looked down and saw that their son was lying on the ground, about four metres below them. He wasn' t moving.

Levan' s father tried to climb down into the wall to save the boy, but he was stopped by the other zoo visitors. Slowly, the gorillas came closer to Levan. A large crowd of people had come to see what was happening. Everyone was shouting. They were scared that gorillas might seriously hurt the boy.

Jambo, a 200kg male gorilla, got to Levan first. He moved carefully around Levan. He softly touched his back. Then he sat down between Levan and the other gorillas. When he saw that a young gorilla had come too close, Jambo stood up and did not let him pass. His message to the other gorillas was clear, "Don't touch him!" He pulled lightly of Levan's clothes and after a while Levan opened his eyes and started to cry.

Jambo ran away and his gorilla family followed him. Some time later, zookeepers saved Levan. He had broken several bones in the fall, and had seriously hurt his head, but he was alive. A man had filmed everything and millions of people around the world watched the video on the news.

Jambo! People had always thought that gorillas were dangerous animals, but the video changed their minds. Soon letters, cards and even boxes of bananas arrived for him at the zoo. Jambo died in 1992, but people built a statue (雕像, 塑像) at the zoo to remind the world of this wonderful animal.

A charity sale was held on our school playground Last Saturday morning. We prepared many things which we made by hand in our spare time, such as kites, model planes and so on. They looked very beautiful. We also brought old toys and second-hand books to sell on the sale. At 8:30, the activity started. Many students and teachers came to take part in it. Everyone chose their favorite items and paid for them at a much cheaper price. In the end the money we made added up to over ¥2,000. We sent the money to the community to help children who cannot attend school and the seniors who needed better care.
