19. Even though it was only October, my students were already whispering about Christmas plans. With each passing day everyone became more 1 , waiting for the final bell. Upon its ringing everyone would run for their coats and go home, everyone except David.

David was a small boy in ragged clothes. I had often 2 what kind of home life David had, and what kind of mother could send her son to school dressed so inappropriately for the cold winter months, without a coat, boots, or gloves. But something made David special. I can still remember he was always 3 a smile and willing to help. He always stayed after school to straighten chairs and mop the floor. We never talked much. He would just simply smile and ask what else he could do, then thank me for letting him stay and slowly 4 home.

Weeks passed and the 5 over the coming Christmas grew into restlessness until the last day of school before the holiday break. I smiled in 6 as the last of them hurried out the door. Turning around I saw David ___ 7 ___ standing by my desk.

"I have something for you" he said and pulled from behind his back a small box. ___ 8 ___ it to me, he said anxiously "Open it". I took the box from him, thanked him and slowly unwrapped it. I lift the lid and to my surprise saw nothing. I looked at David's smiling face and back into the box and said. "The box is nice, David, but it's empty."

"Oh, no, it isn't", said David, "It's full of love, my mum told me before she died that love was something you couldn't see or touch ___ 9 ___ you know it's there".

Tears filled my eyes as I looked at the proud dirty face that I had rarely given ___ 10 ___ to. After that Christmas, David and I became good friends and I never forgot the meaning behind the little empty box set on my desk.
