When people talk about smart work and hard work, they usually wonder which one is more important. In fact, smart work is more important. But working smartly is very hard. This is not a word play. It is not easy to be smart play. It is not easy to be smart.

What Is "smartness"?

People are smart when they can find out a way to bring more results with less effort (努力) . If you can achieve the same results without putting in a lot of work, you are smart. The person pushing the vehicle is smart, because he is using the knowledge and wisdom(智慧), and the hard work of some other people.

How can we work smartly?

Creating that wheel isn't easy. It needs a great thinker, followed by an engineer's hard work. It then needed a handyman. Only then does it become easier to push the material using the machine. So, smart work is not easy at all.

Besides, being smart takes a lot of effort, People need to read more, keep learning new things, try to learn from others' experiences and sharpen their thinking skills. They need to predict the results before putting any effort in any direction, and being able to manipulate the given resources (资源) to meet their needs.

Human beings are smart. The human history shows our smartness. We don't need to go hunting for our food anymore, because we were smart enough to find out that farming could bring much more food with much less effort. We then developed modern tools for farming.

Humans also invented the Internet, the wheel, clothes, the smart phones—all the tools that help us to work smartly. All of this is hard, but that hard work makes us smart. Because of smartness, we are much better off today in terms of happiness and richness.

So remember. Work hard to become a smart person.

47. Which of the following is the example of smartness?

- A. People go hunting for food.
- B. People read many books.
- C. People use vehicles to carry things.
- D. People talk to others with body language.

Hello, everyone. My name is Julia. My hobby is playing chess—one of the greatest games in the world.

My mom wants me to be a happy girl and she teaches me how to play chess. During the first year, she always beats me every time. I feel sad but my mom tells me not to give up. And then, after a year, I can win the game. From then on, I'm always the winner.

To learn the rules of playing chess doesn't take long. One day is enough. But if you want to be a good player, you have to practice for years. What you need is just a chess set and find someone to play with. Chess sets can be very cheap, or quite expensive. Some people collect chess sets as a hobby, but I just enjoy playing.

There is a chess club in our school. We meet in the club every Wednesday to practice. I am the best player in the club, and the captain of the school chess team. This year we win the All England Schools Championship(冠军赛).

I learn a lot from my experience and I have my plan in my mind. I'm saving my money to buy a chess computer. It is very expensive, but good for practice. This way, I'll always have someone to play with. I'm sure I will be a world chess champion some day.

We all know that dogs do great jobs. Dogs are very clever and friendly. Some can lead the way. That's why they can work for the blind people. They know how to keep their owners safe. For example, when they take their owners out in the street, they stop when the traffic light is red.
