The key to success

Once when I was a young boy, I boasted (吹嘘) that I determined (下决心) to win the first place at the coming 9 competition, yet I knew this goal was nearly impossible. Every year, the best players from all over the state took part in this competition. It was a huge deal, especially for a beginner like me.

But my mom was my number one 10. Every day after school, she would sit down right next to me while Miss Green was giving me piano lessons or I was 11 my piano piece. When I could not and would not play any longer, she would always say, "If you determine to win, then act like it. Don't give up." After every practice, my whole body was in pain for numb (麻木的) fingers and stiff (僵硬的) back. However, I didn't want to__12__ my mom, so I kept on practicing until I finally fell asleep on the piano keys.

Finally, the big day arrived. Right before my turn to perform, my mom said, "I know you want to win, so listen to me: Be there for the 13 not for the success, okay?" I managed to nod.

When I walked onto the stage, I was afraid that the judges would hear the beating of my heart instead of the music. Carefully, I took a seat before the piano and began to play. Slowly, I began to 14 the world around me. I just let myself fall deeper and deeper into the music.

15, I really won first place. The experience made me realize that determination is not just saying that you will win; when you have solved difficulties and kept 16, you can truly say you're determined. As my mom always said, "It's hard to beat the person who is the best, but it is harder to beat the person who never gives up."

A Sweet Success

One weekend, Taylor, an eight-year-old girl, asked her parents to buy a toy for her, but her father encouraged her to make money by herself. "How can I make money?" Taylor thought for a while and had an idea, "Why not make cakes and sell them at church to raise money to buy the toy?"

The next day, Taylor started her plan. She borrowed $40 from her parents in order to buy tools and materials at first and promised to pay it back. Then she began to make cakes by herself. To her parents' surprise, she made $175 by selling the cakes that Sunday.

Everyone thought Taylor would buy the toy she wanted. She certainly had made enough money for it, but she didn't. Instead, Taylor decided to buy business cards and had her father's phone number on them. Then she began handing the cards out. More people knew Taylor and came to buy her cakes. Even large companies began to try buying her delicious cakes.

Though Taylor has made a lot of money, she still works hard at school. She also likes to take part in other activities. So Taylor must carefully manage her time. For example, instead of watching TV after school, Taylor might have to bake a lot of cakes for customers. When she has dance lessons on some days, she needs to get her baking done on time so that she isn't late for class.

Making cakes may take time and be hard work, but Taylor sees the fun in it. "I think making cakes is mostly my hobby." She says. She also decorates the boxes that are used to pack the cakes. Taylor uses all kinds of decorations to make sure each box looks special for her customers. People love the extra feeling Taylor gives them by decorating the boxes, so more and more people come for her cakes.

Taylor's cakes are becoming very popular. She achieves a sweet success.

20. Taylor started making and selling cakes at first because _____.

- A. she wanted to buy a toy
- B. she wanted some beautiful cards
- C. she loved baking cakes very much
- D. her parents encouraged her to sell cakes

21. What did she do after she made $175?

- A. She bought a phone for her father.
- B. She bought a toy for herself.
- C. She went on with her business.
- D. She started a big company.

22. From the passage we can know _____.

- A. Taylor likes making money
- B. Taylor doesn't work hard at school
- C. Taylor likes watching TV all day
- D. Taylor is talented in business

New Technology Revolutionizes (变革) Learning

More and more people believe that technologies (科技) are great for learning. Today, such teaching tools as iPads are used in a lot of classes, including language, history and science.

Many teachers are supporters of using iPads in language learning. They say that students now have much more time for discussion in the classroom. Instead of spending valuable class time listening to texts or watching teaching videos, students can do this on their own and come to class prepared for discussion.

The teachers also say that iPads allow students to learn at their own pace. Some students might listen to a dialogue only once and understand it, so they can save time for doing other things. Other students, however, might need to listen to the same dialogue again and again to understand it. Using iPads is especially helpful to students who are learning a language at different paces.

The students who are using the new tool in some classes are also happy. They believe that using iPads is a more enjoyable way to learn (such as listening to stories and watching movies). The class has become much more interesting and creative.

There are other advantages for students. By using iPads, they can pay more attention to the material and learn more. Teaching notes are stored in their iPads and are easy to find. Some students spend more time studying now. "I can listen to my language material or watch teaching videos on the bus, instead of having to wait until I get home," a student explained.

Many adults complain that technologies such as iPads are doing harm to students. They worry that students might use iPads to download (下载) teaching notes and use them to cheat during exams. Some believe that iPads may separate students from each other. If a student spends more time watching videos on an iPad, he will have fewer opportunities to have face-to-face communication with others.

However, technologies are already a part of most students' day-to-day lives. As for cheating, teachers can ask students to hand in their iPads when they take exams. Education needs to make changes with the times as technology is playing an important part. We should look forward to a wonderful future when iPads and other technologies can add a lot to the classroom.

23. What does the expression "at their own pace" in Paragraph 3 probably mean?

- A. According to their own timetable.
- B. Without their teachers' help.
- C. Because of their wonderful goals.
- D. Against their parents' hope.

24. From the passage we can learn that _____.

- A. students with iPads have less discussion in class
- B. students get more fun from learning with iPads
- C. iPads help students save time waiting for buses
- D. iPads prevent students from cheating in exams

25. The writer probably agrees that _____.

- A. teachers can take control of students' learning
- B. exam results depend a lot on new technology
- C. technology in education has a bright future
- D. note-taking is as helpful as video-watching

D

Does Success Come with a High EQ or IQ?

Most students feel that their IQs are what decides how well they are going to do in life. When they see other students doing better than they do, they usually believe that those students have a higher IQ and that there is nothing they can do to change facts. However, new research into EQ suggests that success is not simple the result of a high IQ.

While your IQ tells you how smart you are, your EQ tells you how well you use your intelligence (智力). Professor Salovey who invented the term EQ suggests that when predicting someone's future success, their character, as measured (测量) by EQ tests, might actually matter more than their IQs.

It is generally believed that people with high EQs are open to new ideas and have positive (积极的) attitudes (态度) towards life. They are also less likely to be troubled by problems.

People generally believe that a person's IQ is determined (决定) by birth. However, most social scientists agree that EQ has a lot to do with education. Some are trying to study the possibility of improving a person's EQ, especially in terms of "people skills", such as understanding and communication.

Professor Mayer, recognized by many as a leading expert in the study of changes to people's EQs, recently said the results of a study on senior high school students. When normal students were introduced to students with disabilities (残疾), they found that, afterwards, the normal students were more willing to help people with difficulties. They also showed a better understanding of the disabled students' feelings compared to students who had not been involved in the study. There was also an obvious (明显的) change in the disabled students' attitudes. They became more positive about life and more willing to try new things.

The results of the study show that EQ is important. To get ahead in the world and lead a happy successful life means getting on with other people and being able to understand and react to the situations in the best way possible. This needs a high EQ, the higher the better. And the fact that it might be possible to raise EQs means that schools need to make sure that their students are receiving the education they really need, and know that their futures are not entirely determined by their IQs.

26. According to the passage, people with high EQs _____.

- A. hate trying new things B. are determined by birth
C. are more understanding D. need to improve their IQs

27. According to the passage, Professor Mayer probably agrees that _____.

- A. students with low EQs are more creative and positive toward their lives
B. it is possible for disabled students to improve their EQs with education
C. it is difficult for people with high EQs to solve problems in the best way
D. students with high IQs will be easier to succeed than students with high EQs

28. What is the writer's main purpose in writing the passage?

- A. To discuss the meaning of EQ.
B. To stress the importance of EQ.
C. To introduce the discovery of EQ.
D. To question about the tests of EQ.

World Kindness Day is a celebration which takes place on 13 November each year. It was introduced in 1998 by the World Kindness Movement. It is celebrated in many countries, including Canada, Japan, Australia and some other countries. World Kindness Day is celebrated to highlight acts of kindness passing on the positive power.

Why should people be kind? Few people would disagree with the idea that a kind action is good for the soul (灵魂). It is a win-win situation because it leads to a sense of well-being both for the receiver of this kind action, as well as for the person who does the action. As a simple example, let's imagine you have a workmate who always does a very good job. How about taking a moment to mention this to them, just in conversation or perhaps by email? The effects (影响) of this will probably be quite clear: your workmate will be happy to receive some praise and, in addition, you will probably feel good about yourself for having spread a little joy.

Many organizations try to encourage people to be kind, wherever and whenever they can. Perhaps the strongest supporters of this idea are the Random Acts of Kindness (RAK) Foundation. The RAK website suggests some ways to show kindness. Generally, these fall into three categories. The first is interpersonal kindness. Some examples are giving old clothes to charity (慈善机构) or writing a good comment about a restaurant that you like. The second is environmental kindness, which could mean simply recycling or organizing a group event to clean a local park or beach. The third category is less obvious: personal kindness, which means treating yourself kindly. Some examples are taking a walk in nature or setting yourself an objective to complain less. The logic is that by being kind to yourself, you will surely be kinder to the world around you.

Most experts on kindness agree that it has a sort of ripple effect. This means that one kind action is more likely to lead to more and more. So don't wait for kindness to find you today, go and start a new ripple!

29. When is World Kindness Day? _____

30. Why should people be kind? _____

31. According to RAK, what does "personal kindness" mean? _____

32. What does the passage mainly tell us? _____
